

Peace, Justice and Strong Institutions

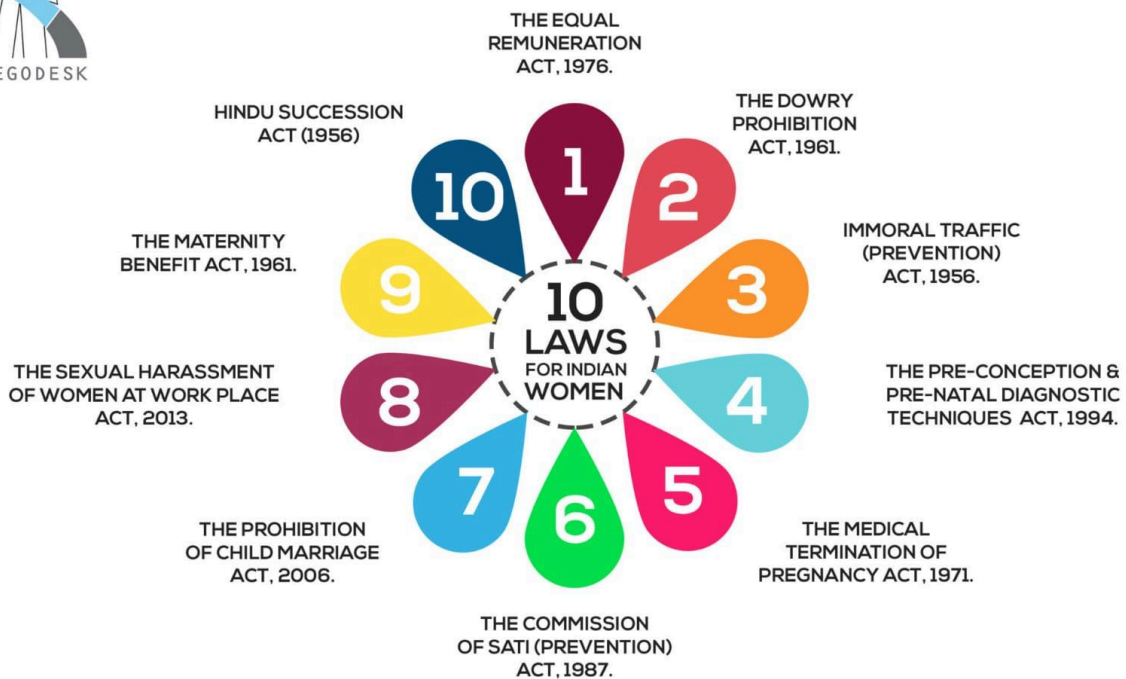

PEACE:- working to prevent conflict; helping parties in conflict make peace; peacekeeping; and creating the conditions to allow peace to hold and flourish.

JUSTICE:-Justice is the ethical, philosophical idea that people are to be treated impartially, fairly, properly, and reasonably by the law and by arbiters of the law, that laws are to ensure that no harm befalls another, and that, where harm is alleged, a remedial action is taken - both the accuser and the accused receive a morally right consequence merited by their actions.

Some Law Regarding Women Rights:-Issues commonly associated with notions of women's rights include the right to bodily integrity and autonomy, to be free from sexual violence, to vote, to hold public office, to enter into legal contracts, to have equal rights in family law, to work, to fair wages or equal pay, to have reproductive rights, to own ...

Strong Institution:-Institutions enforce laws and hold people accountable, but they are also accountable under the law. Strong institutions are not synonymous with concentration of power, but rather require inclusion, accountability, adherence to rule of law.
